Leicester,
June 13. 1875.

Dear Mr. Garrison;

Have you any wish to hear the address at Charlestown on the 17th? If you say Yes, I will do my best to get you a ticket (two if desired) & I think I ~~can~~ can; but, up to this hour, I don't Know what tickets the Comtee will have at their disposal. But I feel sure that the Comtee, all, will see the high propriety of your having the tickets.

I go to Boston in the morning, and our Legislating 17th June Comtee will be in a sort of "perpetual session", up to that day. A letter for me, to care Sergeant at Arms, State House, will be quite sure to reach me promptly; and it will gratify me to do what I can for you.

The State House will afford an excellent point for seeing the Military portion of the procession; - the rest of it will not, by present arrangements, pass there. If you would like to get access ~~thither~~ to State House that morng., please let me know that too; & it shall be done, if possible.

With much regard to Mrs. G., Frank, & all, Yrs. affly

S. May

What do you think of Henry Wilson's late talks about the South, the Republican Party, &c. &c.? Didn't he write to you, not long since, of the "revolutionary movement in the South against the Government", and of the "necessity that the old Antislavery Men should come to the front."?
